PROJECT WE CARE is an initiative by the Associate Ministers' Ministry to connect with First Calvary's Mature Adults. Many of you have received phone calls from perhaps unfamiliar numbers. We will continue to reach out to our membership to offer spiritual, emotional and physical support to those in this category. So the next time you see an unfamiliar number on your ID, it just might be an Associate Minister reaching out to you on behalf of the Church as an expression of caring intentions.

BE SAFE…BE AWARE…BE WELL: Please use caution and be safe during this time in our lives. Wash your hands with soap and water regularly-wash for at least 20 seconds (sing "Happy Birthday" twice or sing the "ABC song"). Use hand sanitizer that is at least 60% alcohol. Wipe down door handles, light switches, and surfaces with an alcohol based cleaner or Clorox wipe. Drink water throughout the day. Wear a mask when out in public and remember "Social Spacing", stay at least 6 feet to 10 feet away from others.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Each day we live and have our being, God does something awesome! Mission Month is in full swing at First Calvary and it's full of excitement and enthusiasm! During this Mission Month let's "Practice our Faith"! You are invited to join us on next Saturday, August 15th, as we serve in the community with our Clothing Giveaway and our Mask Giveaway. We will need help distributing items, labeling items, and sorting clothes. Masks and gloves will be provided to our volunteers.

Please don't forget to bring in your items for the Food Pantry Family Challenge! Let's see the jelly, soup, beans, and cereal come in! Thank you for your donations! We are looking to collect over 50 of each item…and you can drop items off at the Church during the week! This is a wonderful effort and a fantastic blessing for our Food Pantry. The food drives that we have within the life of this church are critical for our ongoing Emergency Food Pantry…and remember, the Pantry has continued to be open each week throughout this time (with safety measures, of course). Please help us in this Macedonia effort. Remember, Jesus said, "when you do it unto the least of these you have done it unto me"….So, let's treat Jesus real nice.

Now as we engage ourselves in this month designated as Mission Month, it is imperative that we serve others…even now….especially now. Please take the time to share and to care for those less fortunate. Special thanks to the Associate Ministers, led by Minster John Carter, our Staff Senior Associate Minister, as they have engaged in "Project We Care". This project has helped us connect and check in on our Mature Adults during this time, and was inspired by some checking in that was done by the Church Office. We also have our Staff instituting prayer time and devotion for our Young Adults and soon, our Mature Adults…. If this is you—join in! These are just a few examples of ways we can reach out to one another. Remember, the church is never "they" or "them"…it is always "US". You see, First Calvary, we take time to give Him the glory, because we are "AN EXCITING CHURCH EXCITED ABOUT ITS MISSION"!

THE DEACON'S MESSAGE

An exercise in faithfulness is exhibited every day when we go to work and do a good job. Every good and perfect gift comes from God; and, whether we want to believe or not, our jobs fall into that same category. Each day that we go to work is an opportunity to help fulfill the ministry of Christ in countless ways. Work is a mission field unlike home or the sacred halls of the church. Paul in his letter to the church at Colosse gives firm instructions on how we are to work for our employers. "Servants, do what you're told by your earthly masters. And don't just do the minimum that will get you by. Do your best. Work from the heart for your real Master, for God, confident that you'll get paid in full when you come into your inheritance. Keep in mind always that the ultimate Master you're serving is Christ. The sullen servant who does shoddy work will be held responsible. Being a follower of Jesus doesn't cover up bad work." (Colossians 3:22-25, The Message) God will bless us when we do our best for Him in everything we do, including the jobs we go to for eight to ten hours a day.

The Parenting Tip
First Calvary Baptist Church◆Fredrick A. Davis, Pastor

BACK TO SCHOOL: THE NEW NORMAL

Talk to your child about the "new normal."
Regardless of where your child will be learning in the fall, it is important to talk to them about it in a way that makes sense for their age and understanding.

"As communities begin to open back up, it is important to be mindful of potential messages around COVID-19 that may be confusing to children," Allison Wilson, from the Stratford School says. "Introducing proactive, age-appropriate discussions around why it is OK to go back to school now, or how school might look different when they start the new school year are important topics in which to engage and develop as information evolves. This continued focus around what we do know about the virus and sharing the things that are within our control can help build confidence, and a level of comfort, in our children."

Let your child know what to expect ahead of time.
Your children are used to a routine at school, so it's important to let them know what to expect in distance learning and create a new, flexible routine. "Children are looking for the familiar throughout this time in their lives and the more we can create clear routines and communicate expectations, the better," Wilson explains. "Creating a daily schedule can provide the entire family clear direction." That said, it's OK to stray from the schedule every now and then.

Schedule social interactions for personal development.
Even during a global pandemic, it's important for children of any age to continue to have social interactions to progress their personal development. "The American Academy of Pediatrics is recommending children return to school to support social-emotional growth," Wilson says. "For families who may have concerns with this recommendation, there are ways to support creative activities that facilitate social interactions and connections even online. Virtual playdates make it possible for children to re-engage with classmates or cousins." Take advantage of technology at your fingertips for scheduling social interactions.

Don't compare your kid's learning experience to others.
Early childhood development is both rapid and cumulative. A balanced education continuously lays a solid foundation for later learning. During this uncertain period it's important to embrace the flexibility of your child's distance learning.
"It is important to see your child as an individual and honor where she/he is within their unique learning journey and development." Wilson tells Woman's Day. "Children benefit greatly when parents and educators provide engagement, challenges or additional support based on their zone of proximal development."

Be kind to yourself during this process.
"Family dynamics have changed in that we are together almost all of the time now while trying to balance work and distance learning for our children," Wilson says. "Now more than ever, communication is important to express needs with your partner or with your children. Finding time for personal space and downtime can be a healthy practice and important for each family member, too."

No matter what this school year may bring, your children will continue to learn if it's in a classroom, at home, or a mix of both. Taking these tips and insights can help you navigate the next few months ahead.
