FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

It's Graduates Sunday and we celebrate with our graduates from Kindergarten, High School, College and Master's and Doctorate study. We welcome their families and guests that are worshipping with us today. We give our congratulations and best wishes to each of you and we look forward to your futures. Congratulations also to those that will receive extended support in the form of the First Calvary Scholarships. Thank you, FCBC family, for how you give financial support to help this to take place each year. In my conversations with our High School graduates, I learned that they have great ambition and I believe that God will continue to bless their paths as they move forward to greater academic and life pursuits. For each of them...for each of us... God has a plan.

How excited I am to experience my first Vacation Bible School with First Calvary on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week! I look forward to a great time each night as we study and fellowship together. I further look forward to Family Fun Day on next Saturday...which is always an enjoyable time of family fellowship. I look to see our church family at both of these church-wide events.

Because of Calvary,
Pastor Marc

Hey Parents, the Guest Room/Family Room on the balcony level is now available for baby changing and baby nursing during worship service. Also, remember, other restrooms throughout the facility have baby-changing tables available.

THE DEACON'S MESSAGE

The path to eternal life is nothing like a walk in the park. Whereas a park is a planned destination visited repeatedly with broad gracious sidewalks used for peaceful, leisurely strolling and taking time to smell the roses – the path to eternal life is an adventure for a lifetime, leading us over the hills and through the valleys. During his Sermon on the Mount, Christ tells us about the path to eternal life in Matthew 7:13-14, NKJV. Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it. Because narrow is the gate and difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it. The path is fraught with thistles and thorns; but it has an unrivaled rugged beauty all its own. It is a landscape worth traveling, once we accept in faith, difficulty is part of the journey. The pressures of life caused by traveling the narrow path may make us feel uneasy; but the path to eternal life was never meant to feel like a walk in the park.

The Parenting Tip

The Power of Teachable Moments

The teachable-moment method of faith building enlightens your children about God in a way that captures their attention and changes their lives.

Your children will learn biblical principles that they'll never forget. A "teachable moment" is like creating an on-the-spot commercial for biblical principles using simple, everyday language and familiar objects. If you see a beautiful tree growing near a lake, for example, you can point it out and say to your child, "Isn't that tree magnificent? God says that people of faith are like that tree. Trees stay strong because they grow near the water. People stay strong when they grow closer to God." A teachable moment gives you the resources to make the Bible relevant to your children today, right now, this very moment. Teachable moments can be incorporated into any family routine, no matter how busy. Teachable moments require no preparation. In fact, they often work best when you're driving in the car or just having plain old fun with your children.

Plain Old Fun. Before you begin trying to teach your children about God by using teachable moments, it's a good idea to build up your parent-child relationship by having some fun. If your children know you can relax and just play, they will see you in a whole new light and be more receptive to adopting your values. Be sure there are times in your family life when you do things JUST FOR FUN. Once you begin to have fun together, your children will be relaxed and open — primed for a teachable moment.

Three Ingredients to Teaching Without Preaching
Parents can deliberately and intentionally teach their children biblical truths using teachable moments — and the children can enjoy it. A teachable moment requires three simple ingredients. The first is an open relationship between the parent and child. Second, you need a catalyst — an event or object that illustrates the spiritual point. A catalyst is the conversation starter, the reason the teachable moment is occurring at that specific time and place. Often the catalyst is an everyday object like a bridge or a cell phone. Or it can be some big milestone in your child's life, like baptism. Third, a teachable moment requires a biblical truth. The truth can be a Bible fact, a truth about God's character, or insights into living a life of faith. You can gather a lot of truths through personal Bible study.
